Prevention Strategies Research Steering Committee

Broad Goal: Using available literature, review and assess the effectiveness of local and national primary prevention programs targeted at youth generally as well as at-risk youth. Based on this literature review, make recommendations to the Coalition for strategic-planning purposes.

- Perform a literature review of local and national primary prevention programs that seek to prevent teen dating and sexual violence. Some of these programs will be assigned.
- Perform a literature review of primary prevention programs targeted to at-risk youth that seek to prevent teen dating and sexual violence. Some of these programs will be assigned.
 - Review them critically.
 - Is there empirical evidence of effectiveness?
 - What are their strong points?
 - What are their limitations?
 - What audiences are the programs directed at?
 - Are they culturally competent?
 - What is the overall cost and ease of access?
 - Etc.
- Based on these literature reviews, make recommendations to the Coalition for strategic planning purposes.
