DVAM 2023 Third-Party Toolkit

The Center for Women and Families is Kentuckiana's domestic violence and rape crisis center, serving individuals and families who are affected by intimate partner abuse and/or sexual assault.

October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month (DVAM), an important time for The Center to connect with our community and shine a light on the impacts of domestic and intimate partner violence. This year, we aim to highlight the increase in domestic violence-related homicides. During the past year, there were more domestic violence-related homicides in our local area than the number reported in 2020 and 2021 combined. Please join us in spreading awareness. There are many opportunities to engage with us during this time, including through a third-party event or activity to benefit The Center.

Individuals, groups, or organizations may hold events or activities at a store or business, where they may choose to donate a percentage of their sales to The Center. Some third-party events can include an auction or raffle, while others may simply set out a donation jar at an event or during regular business hours.

Share your third-party event to your social media channels! The Center can provide a social media toolkit to help spread the word about DVAM and your event. To be included on our online calendar of events online, please let us know about your event.
